

The diagram consists of several geometric shapes and lines. At the top, there is a long, thin horizontal rectangle. A vertical line extends downwards from its left side, meeting a horizontal line that runs across the page. Below this, in the center, are two identical pentagons, each defined by five straight sides. To the left of these pentagons, there is a large, empty rectangular area. At the very bottom left corner of the page, there are four short, horizontal black lines, each ending in a small tick mark.
